

Bio Francesco Geminiani

Tenor Saxophonist and composer Francesco Geminiani comes from beautiful Verona (IT) before moving to Switzerland, NYC and Paris. An endless musical curiosity drives him across styles and melodies, sharing the stage with great human beings across the New and the Old World. Inspired by the masters, he embraces impressionism to connect with the curious listener.

His new Album “Red Sky, Blue Water” has been released on April 2021 by “Fresh Sound New Talent”. On this work he is joined by a dynamic rhythm section with Manuel Schmiedel on piano, Rick Rosato on bass and Daniel Dor on drums.

Beside his work as a leader, Geminiani stands out as an in demand tenor saxophonist of its generation. Performing and recording internationally, he is now based in Paris collaborating with great artists of the NY and European Scene such as the Arthur Hnatek trio, Hermon Mehari, Motor City Drum Ensemble, Plume, Marta Sanchez, Arnaud Dolmen, Easy Mountain Listening, Alessandro Lanzoni...
